For Petitioner :Mr.N.Pragalathan

For Respondents :Mr.S.Ravi

Standing counsel for Government

O R D E R

(Order of the Court was made by J.NISHA BANU, J.)

This habeas corpus petition has been filed by wife of the detenu, namely, Palanivel, S/o.Nagarajan, aged about 44 years, who has been issued a detention order in Cr.M.P.No.07 of 2021, dated

<https://hcselibrary.org/hcselibrary/>

07.02.2021, passed by the second respondent, branding him as "Goonda" as contemplated under Section 2(f) of the Tamil Nadu Act 14 of 1982.

2. Mr.N.Pragalathan, the learned counsel appearing for the petitioner would state that when no bail application is pending in the remanded case, there is no imminent possibility of release on bail, but the detaining authority came to the subjective satisfaction relying a bail granted to some other person. The documents relied by the detaining authority as similar case is no way similar to the detenu's case. Some of the pages are in English and the translated copy of the same were not furnished. The arrest was not properly intimated to the relatives or friends of the detenu. The documents relating to the ground case and adverse cases were not supplied to the detenu. The detaining authority pre-judged the future activities of the detenu that if he comes out on bail, the detenu will indulge in such future activities and it is a clear case of non-application of mind on the part of the detaining authority. The Tamil and English version of the grounds of detention and booklet differs and therefore, the detenu was not able to effectively represent the case before the advisory board. There is an inordinate delay in considering the petitioner's representation.

3. Even though the petitioner has raised the above grounds to quash the impugned detention order, the learned counsel for the petitioner would mainly place arguments on the ground of delay in disposal of the petitioner's representation. In this regard, the learned counsel for the petitioner would state that the procedural safeguards guaranteed under Articles 21 and 22 of the Constitution of India have not been followed in this case and there is unexplained and inordinate delay in disposal of the petitioner's representation which would vitiate the impugned order of detention. Thus, he would pray to quash the impugned order of detention.

4. The learned Standing Counsel appearing for the respondents would state that after satisfying with the materials placed by the sponsoring authority, the detaining authority has passed the impugned detention order and therefore, there is no infirmity or illegality in the same. He would produce the proforma regarding the disposal of the petitioner's representation and would state that even if there is any delay in disposal of the petitioner's representation, it has not caused any prejudice to the rights of the detenu. Thus, he would pray for dismissal of this petition.

5. Heard the learned counsel for the petitioner as well as the respondents.

6. Perusal of the proforma produced by the learned Standing Counsel appearing for the respondents would show that as against the impugned detention order, the petitioner has made a representation to the 1st respondent on 16.04.2021 which was received on 20.04.2021. Remarks on the said representation were called for on 20.04.2021 and it was received on 11.05.2021. The Under Secretary concerned has dealt with the representation on 12.05.2021 and the Hon'ble Minister concerned has dealt with the representation on 15.05.2021 and finally, the representation came to be rejected on 07.06.2021. It is seen that in between 20.04.2021 and 11.05.2021, there was a delay of 20 days and after excluding 6 Government Holidays, there was a delay of 14 days in considering the petitioner's consideration.

7.At this juncture, it is useful to refer to the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Rajammal vs. State of Tamil Nadu and another reported in 1999 (1) CC 417, wherein, the Apex Court has held that it is for the authority concerned to explain the delay, if any, in disposal of the representation of the detenu and if any delay was caused on account of any indifference or lapse in considering the representation, such delay will adversely affect further detention of the prisoner.

8.In the case on hand, as stated supra, the delay of 14 days in considering the representation of the petitioner remains unexplained by the respondents. Hence, in our considered view, the impugned detention order is liable to be set aside solely on the ground of delay by following the above decision of the Apex Court.

9.In fine, the Habeas Corpus Petition is allowed. The detention order in Cr.M.P.No.07 of 2021, dated 07.02.2021, passed by the second respondent, is set aside. Consequently, the detenu, namely, Palanivel, S/o.Nagarajan, aged about 44 years, who is now detained at Central Prison, Trichirappalli, is directed to be released forthwith unless his presence or custody or detention is required in connection with any other case.
