ORDER

The contemnor/respondent filed a writ petition before this Court challenging the order of dismissal in which there was an interim order issued by this Court to pay the last drawn wages to the petitioner till the date of disposal of the writ petition and further directed the respondent that if they has chosen to reinstate the petitioner, she is entitled to current wages.

2. When the matter is taken up for hearing, it is represented by the learned counsel appearing for the respondent that in compliance of the interim order in question, the petitioner was reinstated into service and wages also paid to him.

3. However, the learned counsel for the petitioner disputed that the respondent paid last drawn wages alone but not the current wages.

4. Per contra, the learned counsel appearing for the respondent would contend that the main writ petition is pending before this Court and unless the main writ petition itself is disposed of, the issue between the parties cannot be solved. He further submitted that the respondent has complied with the interim order in question.

5. In view of the above submission made by the learned counsel for the respondent, this contempt petition is closed. However, the petitioner is at liberty to work out his remedy in the manner known to law.
