

Civil Revision No. 8033 of 2018
DATE OF DECISION :- September 06, 2021

Versus

CORAM: HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE H.S. MADAAN

Briefly stated the facts of the case are that revisionists plaintiffs in the civil suit had sought recovery of Rs.15,12,000/- besides other allegations alleging that while plaintiff Rajinder Singh Gill had gone to Canada to meet his daughter then on 26.1.2013, the official of defendants entered his premises and conducted physical verification of the paddy stock and rice and a video film was got prepared which has been got converted into CDs. Some shortage was detected and F.I.R was lodged. They had taken possession of the mill and till date mill is in possession and control of the officials of defendants. The suit was contested by the defendants. Those CDs have though been put to the DWs in their cross-examination but then sought to be proved by way of leading additional evidence. The application was resisted by the defendants. The trial Court vide a detailed well reasoned order has dismissed the application. The impugned order on examination does not show any illegality or infirmity. It can certainly be not termed as arbitrary or having been passed against the settled judicial proposition. There is no reason to interfere therewith by exercising revisional jurisdiction, as such the civil revision petition is found to be without merit and is dismissed accordingly.
