Present: Mr.Manoj Tanwar, Advocate, for the petitioner.

Mr.Ashok Kumar Sehrawat, DAG, Haryana.

DEEPAK SIBAL, J. (Oral)

Case taken up through video conferencing.

Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the alleged detainee namely Santosh is now in the company of the petitioner which renders the present petition infructuous. However, he submits that respondents No.7 to 10 continue to issue threats to the petitioner and his wife as also harass them.

In view of the above, the present petition is disposed of by giving liberty to the petitioner to file an appropriate representation with respondent No.3 with regard to the aforesaid grievance raised by him and in case he does so, respondent No.3 is directed to look into the same and take all necessary measures to protect the petitioner and the detainee-Santosh from any bodily harm. However, such order shall not preclude the State to take any action against the petitioner and his wife if they have violated any provisions of law.
