Date : 09-12-2022

Heard learned counsel for the parties.

Petitioner has prayed for the following relief(s):-

- i. For setting aside the order contained in Memo No. 935 dated 13.09.2022, to the extent it relates to the petitioner issued by the Executive Officer, Nagar Parishad, Dhaka, whereby the petitioner has been debarred for 10 years in gross violation of Principle of Natural Justice.
- ii. For any other relief/reliefs for which the petitioner may be deemed entitled to.

We notice that the impugned order debarring the petitioner for participating in any of the works of the respondent-Department, for a period of ten years, does not contain any reason. The order entails civil consequences, inasmuch as petitioner's right to participate in the contracts to be awarded by the respondents would stand stunted. This Court in CWJC No.2625 of 2021, titled as Satyendra Kumar and Co. Const. Pvt. Ltd. Company vs. The State of Bihar & Ors. decided on 24.01.2022, while extensively dealing with the issue of following due process, as stipulated under the Bihar Contractors Registration Rules, 2007, has already warned the State to be careful in future.

In the instant case, we also reiterate the principles laid down by Hon'ble the Apex Court in Kranti Associates (P) Ltd. v. Masood Ahmed Khan, (2010) 9 SCC 496, emphasizing the need for the authorities to assign reasons. The relevant portion is extracted hereinunder:-

“47. Summarising the above discussion, this Court holds:

(a) In India the judicial trend has always been to record reasons, even in administrative decisions, if such decisions affect anyone prejudicially.

(b) A quasi-judicial authority must record reasons in support of its conclusions.

(c) Insistence on recording of reasons is meant to serve the wider principle of justice that justice must not only be done it must also appear to be done as well.

(d) Recording of reasons also operates as a valid restraint on any possible arbitrary exercise of judicial and quasi-judicial or even administrative power.

(e) Reasons reassure that discretion has been exercised by the decision-maker on relevant grounds and by disregarding extraneous considerations.

(f) Reasons have virtually become as indispensable a component of a decision-making process as observing principles of natural justice by judicial, quasi-judicial and even by administrative bodies.

(g) Reasons facilitate the process of judicial review by superior courts.

(h) The ongoing judicial trend in all countries committed to rule of law and constitutional governance is in favour of reasoned decisions based on relevant facts. This is virtually the lifeblood of judicial decision-making justifying the principle that reason is the soul of justice.

(i) Judicial or even quasi-judicial opinions these days can be as different as the judges and authorities who deliver them. All these decisions serve one common purpose which is to demonstrate by reason that the relevant factors have been objectively considered. This is important for sustaining the litigants' faith in the justice delivery system.

(j) Insistence on reason is a requirement for both judicial accountability and transparency.

(k) If a judge or a quasi-judicial authority is not candid enough about his/her decision-making process then it is impossible to know whether the person deciding is faithful to the doctrine of precedent or to principles of incrementalism.

(l) Reasons in support of decisions must be cogent, clear and succinct. A pretence of reasons or “rubber-stamp reasons” is not to be equated with a valid decision-making process.

(m) It cannot be doubted that transparency is the sine qua non of restraint on abuse of judicial powers. Transparency in decision-making not only makes the judges and decision-makers less prone to errors but also makes them subject to broader scrutiny. (See David Shapiro in Defence of Judicial Candor [(1987) 100 Harvard Law Review 731-37] .)

(n) Since the requirement to record reasons emanates from the broad doctrine of fairness in decision-making, the said requirement is now virtually a component of human rights and was considered part of Strasbourg Jurisprudence. See Ruiz Torija v. Spain [(1994) 19 EHRR 553] EHRR, at 562 para 29 and Anyia v. University of Oxford [2001 EWCA Civ 405 (CA)] , wherein the Court referred to Article 6 of the European Convention of Human Rights which requires, “adequate and intelligent reasons must be given for judicial decisions”.

(o) In all common law jurisdictions judgments play a vital role in setting up precedents for the future. Therefore, for development of law, requirement of giving reasons for the decision is of the essence and is virtually a part of “due process”.

For the aforesaid reasons, we quash and set aside the order dated 13.09.2022 (Annexure-16, Page-48) passed by Respondent No. 6, namely the Executive Officer, Dhaka, P.S. Motihari, District- East Champaran, debarring the petitioner as contractors for a period of ten years and the matter is remanded back to the concerned authority to pass a speaking and reasoned order afresh, in accordance with law, within a period of one month from the date of receipt/production of a copy of this order.

The petition stands allowed in the above terms.

Interlocutory Application, if any, shall stand disposed of.
