Sk. Alamgir

Vs.

The State of West Bengal & Anr.

Mr. Binay Kumar Panda

Mr. Pravas Bhattacharyya

Mr. S. K. Bhakat

... for the State

The revisional application is fixed up for hearing. Administrative report was called for after service of notice upon the petitioner and the opposite party no.2. It appears from report that notice have been duly served upon the petitioner and the opposite party no.2. The same is taken on record. None appear for the petitioner and the opposite party no.2.

Learned advocate for the State submitted that the matter may be disposed of as it is against an order of maintenance granted to the opposite party no.2 to the tune of only Rs.1,000/- per month for herself and Rs.500/- for the minor child.

Perused the revisional application and the impugned order granting maintenance to the wife and his minor child.

Since the petitioner has not come forward to canvas his case as to how the impugned order has adversely affected him, I do not find any merit in the contention raised in the application for revision. That apart, I find no illegality, irregularity or impropriety in the impugned order granting maintenance to the wife and the child under Section 125 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. The revisional application is therefore, dismissed.

Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

The revisional application is accordingly disposed of.

Let a copy of this order be sent to the learned Judicial Magistrate, 3rd Court, Tamluk, for information.
