Ms. Sohini Chakraborty,
Mr. Sagun Baid.....For the appellants.

Owing to the very fair submission made by Ms. Chakraborty, learned advocate for the appellants in these two appeals, we are in a position to dispose of the same today, dispensing with all formalities.

Further to our observation, service of the connected application was made on the respondents. An affidavit service is on record.

This appeal is against an ex-parte ad-interim order of injunction. Against the initial order the appellant filed the appeal.

On the returnable day of the said application, according to Ms. Chakraborty, her clients wanted to contest continuance of the interim order by bringing ready before the court their written objection. The written objection was taken on record. The interim order was extended. The date of hearing of the interim application is fixed on 11th August, 2022.

The only prayer learned counsel makes before this court is that on the adjourned date, the application should be heard out by the learned court below.

It is a very fair prayer.

We formally admit the appeals and dispose of the same by directing the learned trial judge to dispose of the interim application, as expeditiously as possible, not later than 23rd September, 2022 after hearing the parties and by a reasoned order.

The appeals (F.M.A. 793 of 2022 and F.M.A. 794 of 2022) and the connected applications (CAN 1 of 2022 and CAN 1 of 2022) are disposed of.
