years and 240 days i.e. almost 3 years. The amount of compensation in lieu of acquisition of land of the claimants, involved in the present appeal is Rs.60,516/-.

6. The Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in the case of State of Madhya Pradesh and others v/s. Bherula¹ has held that the law of limitation undoubtedly binds everybody including the Government. It is the right time to inform all the government bodies, their agencies and instrumentalities that unless they have reasonable and acceptable explanation for the delay and there was bonafide effort, there is no need to accept the usual explanation that the file was kept pending for several months/years due to considerable degree of procedural red tape in the process. The government departments are under a special obligation to ensure that they perform their duties with diligence and commitment. Condonation of delay is an exception and should not be used as an anticipated benefit for the government departments. The law shelters everyone under the same light and should not be swirled for the benefit of a few.

7. After going through the reasons stated in the application for condonation of delay, usual explanation that the time consumed in the official procedure, is the cause of delay. Thus, in the light of observations made by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in the case of Bherula (supra), I am of the opinion that there was no proper explanation offered by the State Government in this matter except giving various dates by producing a chart in the application. Hence, the department has miserably failed to give any acceptable and cogent reasons sufficient to condone
