CORAM : AMIT BORKAR, J.

DATED : 22nd JUNE, 2022.

. Heard.

2. Rule. Rule made returnable forthwith.

3. The essential challenge in these petitions is to the order passed by Ombudsman dated 23.10.2015. Both the parties to the petitions agree that during the pendency of the present petitions, the benefit which the petitioner claimed in the form of change of tariff has been redressed and principal amount has been refunded to the petitioner.

For the said purpose, it is the Ombudsman, who has to adjudicate upon the entitlement of the petitioner for interest as per Section 62(6) of the said Act. Therefore, it will be in the interest of justice that Ombudsman is directed to adjudicate upon the entitlement of the petitioner to claim interest as per Section 62(6) of the said Act.

7. The petitions are disposed of in above terms.

8. All contentions of the parties in relation to entitlement of interest are kept open and they are entitled to putforth their claim in the form of documentary evidence or any other material before the Electricity Ombudsman.
