

4. The Additional Public Prosecutor appearing for the respondent police would submit that on the occurrence day, the petitioner attacked the deceased with knife below the chest and damaged the lungs. Thereafter, she was taken to hospital, however she died. Hence, he vehemently opposed to grant bail to the petitioner.

5. It is seen that the petitioner is a drunkard and asked money from his wife for consuming alcohol on the date of occurrence. Since she refused to give money, there was a wordy quarrel and at that time, he attacked the deceased with knife below the chest and damaged the lungs, thereby she died. Therefore, the petitioner has committed very serious offence as against his own wife, that too when she refused to give money to drink alcohol, he committed murder. As such, this Court is not inclined to grant bail to the petitioner. Accordingly, this criminal original petition is dismissed.
