earliest with liberty to the non-appellants/writ petitioners to raise all issues for challenge to the selection, which may then be threadbare considered by the learned Single Judge. If the direction aforesaid is given, the non-appellants/writ petitioners would not have objection for setting aside the interim order for declaration of the result of the written examination. However, this no-objection may not be taken adverse to the non-appellants/writ petitioners. Rather, it is in the given facts and circumstances only, otherwise, they support the order of the learned Single Judge.

5. However, learned counsel appearing for the Tamil Nadu Public Service Commission did not support the aforesaid course of action suggested. He submitted that the order passed by the learned Single Judge runs contrary to the view expressed by the Apex Court in the case of Pranav Verma (supra) and the Full Bench of this Court in the case of Vidya Devarajan (supra).

6. Inasmuch as all learned counsel for the non-appellants/writ petitioners, in one voice, submitted that the interim order of the learned Single Judge may be set aside with a clarification that the non-appellants/writ petitioners can raise all the issues before the learned Single Judge. The learned Single Judge may decide all the issues on merit.

7. In view of the above, we are inclined to cause interference with the order of the learned Single Judge only to the extent of the direction for declaration of the result of the written examination prior to viva-voce, as it is otherwise hit by the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Pranav Verma (supra).

8. Accordingly, the interim order of the learned Single Judge impugned herein is set aside. However, the judgment herein would not be taken to be adverse to the non-appellants/writ petitioners in any respect and they would be at liberty to raise all the issues which would be considered by the learned Single Judge for passing final order. The learned Single Judge would be requested to expedite the hearing. Learned counsel appearing for the parties are directed to cooperate with the learned Single Judge for final hearing.

9. With the aforesaid clarification and observation, the part of the order of the learned Single Judge directing the declaration of the result of the written examination is set aside. It is with a request to the learned Single Judge to expedite the hearing and for that, the Registry is directed to list all the writ petitions before the learned Single Judge on 31.03.2022.

10. The writ appeals are allowed to the extent indicated above. There will be no order as to costs. Consequently, all connected miscellaneous petitions are closed.
