2. The case of the prosecution is that the petitioner had illegally transported quarter unit of river sand in bullock cart without any valid license. Hence, the complaint.

3. The learned counsel for the petitioner would submit that the petitioner is a farmer by profession and he had purchased a river sand from a dealer for his construction purpose. Other than that, he has not done any other offence. He would further submit that the petitioner is an innocent person and he has been falsely implicated in this case. Hence, he prays to grant anticipatory bail to the petitioner.

4.The learned Government Advocate (crl.side) appearing for the respondent police would submit that the petitioner had illegally transported quarter unit of river sand in bullock cart. He would further submit that there is no previous case as against him. However, he opposed to grant anticipatory bail to the petitioner.

6.Merely, because the petitioner has deposited the said amount, it would not amount to admission of his guilt. Therefore, it is open to the trial Court to deal with the case independently.
