Heard the learned counsel on either side.

2. The writ petitioner executed the petition mentioned sale deed. When it was presented for registration before the first respondent, the first respondent refused to register the document by citing the pendency of civil appeal. It is true that the property covered under the sale deed is subject matter of the said civil appeal.

3. It is seen that the petitioner is not a party to the said civil proceedings. There is also no injunction order restraining the registering authority from registering any document pertaining to the suit schedule property. When there is no injunction order operating against any person, the first respondent was not justified in declining to register the document. The reason set out in the impugned refusal check slip is clearly unsustainable. It stands quashed. The petitioner is permitted to represent the document before the first respondent. The first respondent is directed to entertain the same and register it subject to the fulfilment of other formalities.
