antecedent and as per the prosecution's allegation the victim had love affair with this petitioner and when petitioner's marriage was fixed with another lady and the said love affair in between them came into the knowledge of all the villagers and on account of that the victim got ashamed and finally committed suicide but the said allegation concerned to the petitioner does not fall in the purview of instigation to the victim to commit suicide and moreover the dead body of the victim was admittedly found in the house of the informant and as per medical expert's opinion, the cause of death has been opined as strangulation which is against the factum of victim having committed suicide and initially the informant had lodged UD case before the institution of FIR and thereafter the FIR was lodged with malice intention and against the petitioner, investigation has been completed.
