

2. Learned counsel appearing for the respondents state that the order impugned in the present civil revision application is an equitable order and delay is condoned by imposing cost of Rs.15,000/-. Hence, she submits that the order may not be interfered with. However, on instructions, she states that the respondents are agreeable to pay an amount of Rs.35,000/- in addition to Rs.15,000/- towards cost to the present applicants.

3. The learned counsel appearing for the applicants fairly submits that since the amount of cost is voluntarily increased by the respondents, he would not press the present civil revision application on a condition that the respondents will deposit the amount of additional cost with the district court within a period of four weeks from today and the applicants are permitted to withdraw the amount.

4. Learned counsel for the applicants submit that the earlier cost amount is also not withdrawn by the preset applicants. The learned counsel for the respondents state that she has no objection if the applicants withdraw the amount of cost initially deposited as well as the additional amount of cost that will be deposited within a period of four weeks from today.

5. For the reasons stated above, civil revision application is disposed of in the above terms.

6. The applicants would be at liberty to make appropriate application before the District Court for early hearing of the appeal.
