P.C.

. This petition was filed under Section 11 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996, for appointment of an arbitrator. But, in the meanwhile, the parties have settled their disputes.

2. The learned counsel for the parties have handed over the Settlement Deed signed by the authorised representatives of the parties and their respective Advocates. The Settlement Deed consists of the terms on which the disputes have been settled between the parties.

3. The Settlement Deed is taken on record and marked 'X'.
4. The undertakings given in the Settlement Deed are treated as undertaking to this Court. The parties are directed to abide by their respective obligations contained in the Settlement Deed.
5. As per clause (G) of the Settlement Deed, the parties have agreed that the Settlement Deed is to be treated as a decree of the Court. Accordingly, the Settlement Deed shall be treated as a decree.
6. The petition stands disposed of in the above terms.

MANISH PITALE, J.
