2. The petitioners are encroachers. However, in view of the Scheme, the State has allotted alternate land to the petitioners. In spite of the fact that alternate lands are allotted, the present petitioners have not vacated the encroached area.

3. The contention of learned counsel for the petitioners is that no proper access is available for approaching the alternate site allotted to the petitioners.

4. Learned Special Government Pleader submits that now gravel road would be laid by the State Government for the benefit of these persons.

5. By way of indulgence, we grant two months' time to the petitioners to vacate the encroached site. If, within two months, the encroachment is not vacated by the petitioners, the respondents may take steps to get the petitioners evicted.
