2. We have heard the learned counsel appearing for the petitioner and the learned Additional Public Prosecutor appearing for the respondents. We have also perused the records produced by the Detaining Authority.

3. The learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the detaining authority after being aware of the fact that the detenu has not moved any bail application, had come to the conclusion that there is likelihood of the detenu coming out on bail by relying upon an order passed in CrI.M.P.No.10485/2021. Learned counsel submitted that the order relied upon by the detaining authority is not a similar case. Hence, the detention order suffers from non-application of mind.

4. We have carefully gone through the order passed in CrI.M.P.No.10485/2021, which was relied upon by the detaining authority to come to the conclusion that that there is likelihood of the detenu coming out on bail. In the said order, no serious objections were raised by the Public Prosecutor for granting bail to the accused therein. That apart, the Court also took into consideration that accused therein suffered incarceration for sufficient number of days. Hence, the order relied upon by the detaining authority cannot be held to be a similar case and hence, it reflects non-application of mind.

In the result, the Habeas Corpus Petition is allowed and the order of detention in BCDFGISSSV No.128/2022 dated 24.05.2022 passed by the second respondent is set aside. The detenu, viz., Dinesh S/o.Ramesh, aged about 24 years, is directed to be released forthwith unless his detention is required in connection with any other case.
