petitioner and Mr.A.Damodaran, learned Additional Public Prosecutor appearing for the respondents.

3. The grievance of the petitioner is that the private respondents are not allowing the survey of the subject property and they have gone to the extent of threatening the revenue officials. Hence, the petitioner requires police protection for the purpose of conducting the survey.

4. In the considered view of this Court, the private respondents are preventing the petitioner from enjoying her property and is not allowing the petitioner to survey the property. Under such circumstances, it is always left open to the petitioner to approach the Civil Court and seek for an order of injunction against the private respondents. Once such order of interim injunction is granted by the Civil Court, it will always be open to the petitioner to conduct the survey and if required with police protection. Without resorting to this procedure, it will not be proper to involve
