pertaining to the impugned detention order passed by the 2nd respondent made in his proceedings in Memo No.310/BCDFGISSSV/2023 dated 11.07.2023 in detaining in detenu under Section 2[f] of the Tamil Nadu Act 14 of 1982 as a Goonda and quash the same and direct the respondents to produce the detenu namely Jeganathan, son of Srinivasan, male, aged about 51 years who is detained at Central Prison, Puzhal, Chennai before this Court and set him at liberty.

ORDER

[Order of the Court was made by S.S.SUNDAR, J]

- (1)The petitioner, mother of the detenu has come forward with this petition challenging the detention order passed by the 2nd respondent dated 11.07.2023 slapped on her son, branding him as "Goonda" under the Tamil Nadu Act 14 of 1982.
- (2)Heard the learned counsel for the petitioner and the learned Additional Public Prosecutor appearing for the respondents.
- (3)Though several points have been raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner, the detention order is liable to be quashed on the ground that the subjective satisfaction of the Detaining Authority regarding the possibility of the detenu coming out on bail by relying upon the bail order granted to the detenu herein in the adverse case, suffers from non-application of mind.

(4) In paragraph No.4 of the Grounds of Detention, the Detaining Authority has also stated that there is a possibility of the detenu coming out on bail in the ground case since in a similar case, bail was granted to the the detenu herein and relied upon the order passed by this Court in CrI.OP.No.201/2022. However, a perusal of the said order in the Booklet in page No.1080, this Court finds that the said order relates to release of the detenu herein by recording the fact that the said case relates to civil dispute and that a suit is pending between the parties. However, the ground case relates to criminal offence. Therefore, it is not a similar case and the subjective satisfaction of the Detaining Authority, regarding the possibility of the detenu coming out on bail suffers from non-application of mind, which vitiates the detention order.

(5)The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Rekha Vs. State of Tamil Nadu through Secretary to Government and Another reported in 2011

[5] SCC 244, has dealt with a situation where the Detention Order is passed without an application of mind. In case any of the reasons stated in the order of detention is non-existent or a material information is wrongly assumed, that will vitiate the Detention Order. In the instant case, the Detaining Authority has arrived at the subjective satisfaction that the detenu is likely to be released on bail in the ground case and in the adverse cases by referring to the bail granted to him in the similar case by this Court in CrI.OP.No.201/2022. However, the said bail was granted on the ground that the case is of civil nature and that a civil suit is pending between the parties. But the ground case of the detenu is not civil in nature and that it relates to offence u/s.120[B] r/w 420, 465, 468, 471 IPC. Hence, the adverse case cannot be compared with the ground case. This indicates non-application of mind on the part of the Detaining Authority. When the subjective satisfaction was irrational or there was non-application of mind, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the order of detention is liable to be quashed. It is relevant to extract paragraphs No.10 and 11 of the said judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court:-

"10. In our opinion, if details are given by the respondent authority about the alleged bail orders in similar cases mentioning the date of the orders, the bail application number, whether the bail order was passed in respect of the co-accused in the same case, and whether the case of the co-accused was on the same footing as the case of the petitioner, then, of course, it could be argued that there is likelihood of the accused being released on bail, because it is the normal practice of most courts that if a co-accused has been granted bail and his case is on the same footing as that of the petitioner, then the petitioner is ordinarily granted bail. However, the respondent authority should have given details about the alleged bail order in similar cases, which has not been done in the present case. A mere ipse dixit statement in the grounds of detention cannot sustain the detention order and has to be ignored.

11. In our opinion, the detention order in question only contains ipse dixit regarding the alleged imminent possibility of the accused coming out on bail and there was no reliable material to this effect. Hence, the detention order in question cannot be sustained."

(6) In view of the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the aforesaid judgment and in view aforesaid facts, this Court is of the view that the detention order is liable to be quashed.

(7) Accordingly, the detention order passed by the 2nd respondent dated 11.07.2023 in Memo No.310/BCDFGISSSV/2023 is hereby set aside and the Habeas Corpus Petition is allowed. The detenu is directed to be set at liberty forthwith unless he is required in connection with any other case.
