Prayer:- Habeas Corpus Petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India praying for a Writ of Habeas Corpus calling for the records in detention order B3/D.O.No.19/2023 dated 19.06.2023 on the file of the 2nd respondent herein and quash the same and direct the respondent herein to produce the body of petitioner son Riyaz Ahamed son of Vasivulla aged about 20 years now confined in Central Prison, Salem before this Court and set him at liberty.

For Petitioner : Mr.A.Vijaysankar

For Respondents : Mr.E.Raj Thilak
Additional Public Prosecutor assisted by Mr.Aravind.C

ORDER

[Order of the Court was made by S.S.SUNDAR, J.]

- (1)The petitioner, mother of the detenu, has come forward with this petition challenging the detention order passed by the 2nd respondent dated 19.06.2023 slapped on her son, branding him as "Drug Offender" under the Tamil Nadu Act 14 of 1982.
- (2)Heard the learned counsel for the petitioner and the learned Additional Public Prosecutor appearing for the respondents.
- (3)The learned counsel for the petitioner though canvassed several points before this Court, this Court is able to find some force in his submission that there is no application of mind on the part of the Detaining Authority in arriving at the subjective satisfaction. Learned counsel pointed out that the Detaining Authority has not relied upon any similar case to arrive at the subjective satisfaction and has merely stated that "as bails are being granted by courts in such cases, there is most likely that of his [Thiru Riyaz Ahamed] would be coming out of bail, by filing any bail application in appropriate court." This statement of the Detaining Authority without any material, is ipse dixit and suffers from non application of mind. Hence, on the above ground, the Detention Order is liable to be quashed.

(4) From a perusal of the Grounds of Detention, in particular, paragraph No.5, it is seen that the Detaining Authority has arrived at the subjective satisfaction that the detenu would be coming out on bail by filing bail application before the appropriate Court by recording the fact that the detenu is taking steps to file the bail application through his relative. However, it is to be pointed out that this statement of the Detaining Authority is not based on any materials and there is no reference to any similar cases to arrive at such subjective satisfaction. This subjective satisfaction of the Detaining Authority is mere ipse dixit and suffers from non-application of mind.

(5) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Rekha Vs. State of Tamil Nadu through Secretary to Government and Another reported in 2011 [5] SCC 244, has considered a case where it is stated that in the grounds of detention that relatives of detenu are taking action to take him on bail in the criminal case in which the detenu was in remand and that in similar cases, bail was granted by Courts. Since no details had been given about the alleged similar cases in which bail was allegedly granted by the Court concerned, it is held by Hon'ble Supreme Court that in the absence of details, the statement which is mere ipse dixit, cannot be relied upon and that itself is sufficient to vitiate the detention order. When the subjective satisfaction was irrational or there was non-application of mind, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the order of detention is liable to be quashed. It is relevant to extract paragraphs No.10 and 11 of the said judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court:-

"10. In our opinion, if details are given by the respondent authority about the alleged bail orders in similar cases mentioning the date of the orders, the bail application number, whether the bail order was passed in respect of the co-accused in the same case, and whether the case of the co-accused was on the same footing as the case of the petitioner, then, of course, it could be argued that there is likelihood of the accused being released on bail, because it is the normal practice of most courts that if a co-accused has been granted bail and his case is on the same footing as that of the petitioner, then the petitioner is ordinarily granted bail. However, the respondent authority should have given details about the alleged bail order in similar cases, which has not been done in the present case. A mere ipse dixit statement in the grounds of detention cannot sustain the detention order and has to be ignored.

11. In our opinion, the detention order in question only contains ipse dixit regarding the alleged imminent possibility of the accused coming out on bail and there was no reliable material to this effect.

Hence, the detention order in question cannot be sustained."

(6)The second contention raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner is the delay in considering the representation of the detenu, dated 11.09.2023. According to the learned counsel for the petitioner, the representation dated 11.09.2023, was received by the Government on 14.09.2023 ; and though the file has been dealt with by the Deputy Secretary on the same day, i.e., on 14.09.2023, the Minister concerned dealt with the file only on 18.09.2023 and the Rejection Letter prepared on 19.09.2023 was sent to the detenu on 20.09.2023. It is the further submission of the learned counsel that this three days inordinate delay in considering the representation remains unexplained and the same vitiates the detention order. In support of his contention, the learned counsel for the petitioner relied on the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rajammal vs. State of Tamil Nadu, reported in (1999) 1 SCC 417.

(7)As per the submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner and on perusal of the records, we find that, the representation of the detenu, dated 11.09.2023, which was received by the Government on 14.09.2023, was dealt with by the Minister concerned only on 18.09.2023 and the Rejection Letter was prepared on the next day. Thus, we find there is a considerable delay of three days [after excluding the intervening Saturday and Sunday [16.09.2023 and 17.09.2023]] in considering the representation of the petitioner. This delay in considering the detenu's representation remain unexplained.

(8) It is trite law that the representation should be very expeditiously considered and disposed of with a sense of urgency and without avoidable delay. Any unexplained delay in the disposal of the representation would be a breach of the constitutional imperative and it would render the continued detention impermissible and illegal. From the records produced, we find that no acceptable explanation has been offered for the inordinate delay. Therefore, we have to hold that the delay has vitiated further detention of the detenu.

(9) In the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rajammal's case (cited supra), it has been held as follows:

"It is a constitutional obligation of the Government to consider the representation forwarded by the detenu without any delay. Though no period is prescribed by Article 22 of the Constitution for the decision to be taken on the representation, the words "as soon as may be " in clause (5) of Article 22 convey the message that the representation should be considered and disposed of at the earliest."

(10)As per the dictum laid down by the Supreme Court in above cited

Rajammal's case, number of days of delay is immaterial and what is to be considered is whether the delay caused has been properly explained by the authorities concerned. But, here the inordinate delay of three days, has not been properly explained at all.

(11)Further, in a recent decision in Ummu Sabeena vs. State of Kerala -

2011 STPL (Web) 999 SC, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the history of personal liberty, as is well known, is a history of insistence on procedural safeguards. The expression 'as soon as may be', in Article 22(5) of the Constitution of India clearly shows the concern of the makers of the Constitution that the representation, made on behalf of the detenu, should be considered and disposed of with a sense of urgency and without any avoidable delay.

(12) In the light of the above fact and law, we have no hesitation in quashing the order of detention on the ground of delay on the part of the Government in disposing of the representation of the detenu.

(13) In view of the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and in view of the aforesaid reason, this Court is of the view that the detention order is liable to be quashed.

(14) Accordingly, the detention order passed by the 2nd respondent dated 19.06.2023 in B3/D.O.No.19/2023 is hereby set aside and the Habeas Corpus Petition is allowed. The detenu is directed to be set at liberty forthwith unless he is required in connection with any other case.
