No.269/2022 dated 29.12.2022 holding him to be a "Goonda", as contemplated under Section 2(f) of Tamil Nadu Act 14 of 1982. The said order is under challenge in this Habeas Corpus Petition.

3. Though the learned counsel for the petitioner has raised several other grounds to assail the order of detention, he has mainly focused his argument on the ground that the copy of the initial remand order and remand extension order have not been furnished to the detenu, despite the same has been sought for by the petitioner in his representation and therefore, submits that on the sole ground, the detention order is liable to be quashed.

4. The learned Additional Public Prosecutor while objecting this petition submitted that on completion of investigation, charge sheet has been filed in S.C.No.197/2023 and the same is pending before the I Additional District Judge, Tuticorin.

5. On consideration of the submissions made on either side and upon perusal of the documents available on record, especially, the representation made by the petitioner dated Nil, he had sought for the remand order and remand extension order, however, the same have not been furnished to the
