CRL OP(MD). No.8974 of 2023

2. The case of the prosecution is that the defacto complainant is the wife of the petitioner. Due to misunderstanding the petitioner and the defacto complainant are living separately. When the defacto complainant informed about the issue between them to her daughter -in-law, she asked Rs.1,00,000/- cash and 30 sovereigns of gold jewels as dowry and also abused with filthy language and threatened with dire consequences. Hence the complaint.

3. The learned counsel for the petitioner would submit that the petitioner is an innocent, he has not committed any offence as alleged by the prosecution and he has been falsely implicated in this case.

4. Learned Additional Public Prosecutor would submit that there was a issue between the petitioner and the defacto complainant. Already interim anticipatory bail was issued to the petitioner.

5. Considering the limited role played by the petitioner, interim anticipatory bail was granted by this Court during the vacation Court. I find no development in this case and the interim anticipatory bail granted to the petitioner is made absolute.

6. Accordingly, this Criminal Original Petition is allowed and the petitioner is ordered to be released on bail in the event of arrest or on his appearance, before the learned Judicial Magistrate, Oddanchatram, on condition that the petitioner shall execute a bond for a sum of Rs.10,000/- (Rupees Ten Thousand only) with two sureties each for a like sum to the satisfaction of the learned Magistrate concerned and since the petitioner is working at Kodaikanal, the petitioner shall appear before the respondent police as and when required for interrogation. The petitioner shall comply with the condition stipulated under Section 438 Cr.P.C. scrupulously.

7. The petitioner shall appear before the concerned Magistrate within a period of 15 days from the date on which the order copy made ready, failing which, the petition for anticipatory bail stands dismissed.
