CORUM: HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE DEEPAK MANCHANDA

Present: Mr. Gursharan Singh, Advocate for the petitioners.

Mr. Madhur Sharma, AAG Punjab.

Mr. Lakhwinder Singh, Advocate for respondent No. 2.

DEEPAK MANCHANDA J. (ORAL)

This petition has been filed under Section 482 Cr.P.C. praying for the quashing of FIR No.78 dated 29.04.2018, registered under Sections 323, 324, 427 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, at Police Station Bhargo Camp District Police Commissionerate Jalandhar (Annexure P-1) and all the subsequent proceedings emanating therefrom on the basis of compromise/affidavit (Annexure P-2).

Vide order dated 04.02.2019, notice of motion was issued and thereafter on 29.05.2019, learned counsel for respondent No. 2/complainant put in appearance and admitted the factum of compromise. Further this Court directed the petitioners, as also respondent no. 2 to appear before the Area Magistrate/trial Court (as the case may be) up to 13.06.2019 to get recorded their statements and trial court would satisfy itself about the authenticity of the compromise and the fact that it has been arrived at without any kind of undue influence or pressure, and would thereafter send its report to this Court, before the next date of hearing.

In pursuance of the said order, the report forwarded vide letter no. 2408 dated 22.08.2019 has been submitted by the Judicial Magistrate Ist Class, Jalandhar, which is on record. The relevant part of the report is reproduced hereinbelow:-

- “1. As per the statement of Investigating Officer, there are total three persons namely Ashu Matta, Little @ Abhishek Sharma and Deepu are arrayed as accused in the present FIR.*
- 2. As per the statement of Investigating Officer, no accused is proclaimed offender in the present case.*
- 3. In view of the statements given by the parties this Court is of the considered opinion that compromise effected between the parties is genuine and it is effected voluntarily without any pressure, coercion or undue influence from any quarter.*
- 4. As per the statement of Investigating Officer, accused are not involved in any other case.*
- 5. As per the statement of Investigating Officer, there is one complainant namely Rahul Kumar is there in the FIR and there is one victim/injured namely Meet also there in the FIR.”*

In compliance with the order dated 21.11.2022, an affidavit dated 29.12.2022 was filed by respondent no.1-State, whereas on 06.01.2023, after perusing the said status report, this Court observed that the said affidavit was filed in a casual manner as the verification was not signed by the deponent namely Bhupinder Singh (PPS), Assistant Commissioner of Police (West) Jalandhar. Accordingly the abovenamed deponent was directed to come present on 30.01.2023 for explaining the said mistake, wherein in compliance of the said order Bhupinder Singh (PPS), Assistant Commissioner of Police (West) Jalandhar, has appeared and tendered his unconditional apology for filing the affidavit in a casual manner. Same is accepted and his presence is exempted.

As per the said affidavit, the petitioners are stated to be not involved in any other case and present case is under investigation, where final report investigation.

A perusal of the said report received by JMIC, Jalandhar, shows that the statements of concerned persons have been duly recorded whereby the matter has been compromised and in view of the statements given by the parties, compromise effected is genuine, voluntary, without any pressure, coercion or undue influence and complainant has got no objection in case the FIR in question is quashed.

Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that there is no other FIR against the petitioner as they have not been declared proclaimed offender and the said fact is not disputed by the State.

Having heard the learned counsel for the parties and after perusing the report submitted by the trial Court, this Court finds that the matter has been amicably settled between the petitioners and the complainant, where the case is still under investigation, and by the passage of time, the parties have decided to bury their hatchet and compromise the dispute amicably. Therefore to prevent the abuse of the process of law and to secure the ends of justice, the criminal proceedings deserves to be quashed, under section 482 of Cr. P.C., which has the magnitude of inherent jurisdiction of the High Court under it and this Court has inherent power under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. to quash an F.I.R. even when the offences are non-compoundable, with the driving force being the object of securing ends of justice.

As per the Full Bench judgment of this Court in “Kulwinder Singh and others Vs State of Punjab”, 2007 (3) RCR (Criminal) 1052, it is held that:-

“27. The power to do complete justice is the very essence of every judicial justice dispensation system. It cannot be diluted by distorted perceptions and is not a slave to anything, except to the caution and circumspection, the standards of which the Court sets before it, in the exercise of such plenary and unfettered power inherently vested in it while donning the cloak of compassion to achieve the ends of justice. No embargo, be it in the shape of Section 320(9) of the Criminal Procedure Code, or any other such curtailment, can whittle down the power under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

28. The compromise, in modern society, is the sine qua non of harmony and orderly behavior. It is the soul of justice and if the power under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code is used to enhance such a compromise which, in turn, enhances social amity and reduces friction, then it truly is the "finest hour of justice". Disputes which have their genesis in a matrimonial discord, landlord-tenant matters, commercial transactions, and other such matters can safely be dealt with by the Court by exercising its powers under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code in the event of a compromise, but this is not to say that the power is limited to such cases. There can never be any such rigid rule to prescribe the exercise of such power, especially in the absence of any premonitions to forecast and predict eventualities which the cause of justice may throw up during the course of a litigation.

29. The only inevitable conclusion from the above discussion is that there is no statutory bar under the Criminal Procedure Code which can affect the inherent power of this Court under Section 482. Further, the same cannot be limited to matrimonial cases alone and the Court has the wide power to quash the proceedings even in non-compoundable offences notwithstanding the bar under Section 320 of the Criminal Procedure Code, in order to prevent the abuse of law and to secure the ends of justice.

30. The power under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code is to be exercised Ex-Debita Justitia to prevent abuse of the process of Court. There can neither be an exhaustive list nor the defined parameters to enable a High Court to invoke or exercise its inherent powers. It will always depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. The power under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code has no limits and the Court is a vital and extraordinary effective instrument to maintain and control social order and play a role of paramount importance in achieving peace, harmony, and ever-lasting congeniality in society. Resolution of a dispute by way of a compromise between two warring groups, therefore, should attract the immediate and prompt attention of a Court which should endeavor to give full effect to the same unless a such compromise is abhorrent to the lawful composition of the society or would promote savagery.”

Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of “Gian Singh Vs. State of Punjab and another”, 2012 (4) RCR (Criminal) 543, had also observed:-

“57. The position that emerges from the above discussion can be summarised thus: the power of the High Court in quashing a criminal proceeding or FIR or complaint in exercise of its inherent jurisdiction is distinct and different from the power given to a criminal court for compounding the offences under Section 320 of the Code. Inherent power is of wide plenitude with no statutory limitation but it has to be exercised in accord with the guideline engrafted in such power viz; (i) to secure the ends of justice or (ii) to prevent abuse of the process of any Court. In what cases power to quash the criminal proceeding or complaint or F.I.R. may be exercised where the offender and victim have settled their dispute would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case and no category can be prescribed. However, before exercising of such power, the High Court must have due regard to the nature and gravity of the crime. Heinous and serious offenses of mental depravity or offenses like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. cannot be fittingly quashed even though the victim or victim's family and the offender have settled the dispute. Such offenses are not private in nature and have a serious impact on society. Similarly, any compromise between the victim and offender in relation to the offenses under special statutes like Prevention of Corruption Act or the offenses committed by public servants while working in that capacity etc; cannot provide for any basis for quashing criminal proceedings involving such offenses. But the criminal cases having overwhelmingly and pre-dominantly civil flavour stand on different footing for the purposes of quashing, particularly the offenses arising from commercial, financial, mercantile, civil, partnership or such like transactions or the offenses arising out of matrimony relating to dowry, etc. or the family disputes where the wrong is basically private or personal in nature and the parties have resolved their entire dispute. In this category of cases, High Court may quash criminal proceedings if in its view, because of the compromise between the offender and victim, the possibility of conviction is remote and bleak and continuation of criminal case would put accused to great oppression and prejudice and extreme injustice would be caused to him by not quashing the criminal case despite full and complete settlement and compromise with the victim. In other words, the High Court must consider whether it would be unfair or contrary to the interest of justice to continue with the criminal proceeding or continuation of the criminal proceeding would tantamount to abuse of process of law despite settlement and compromise between the victim and wrongdoer and whether to secure the ends of justice, it is appropriate that criminal case is put to an end and if the answer to the above question(s) is in affirmative, the High Court shall be well within its jurisdiction to quash the criminal proceeding.”

The aforesaid quoted percept has also been followed in

State of Madhya Pradesh v/s Lakshmi Narayan (2019)5 SCC 688:-

29.7. While deciding whether to exercise its power under section 482 of the Code or not, timings of settlement play a crucial role. Those cases where the settlement is arrived at immediately after the alleged commission of offence and the matter is still under investigation, the High Court may be liberal in accepting the settlement to quash the criminal proceedings/investigation. It is because of the reason that at this stage the investigation is still on and even the charge-sheet has not been filed.

The view taken by this Court also finds support from the recent judgment of the Hon’ble Supreme Court in Ram Gopal & Anr. Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2021 (4) RCR Criminal 322, relevant of which is as under:-

“19. We thus sum-up and hold that as opposed to Section 320 Cr.P.C., 1973 where the Court is squarely guided by the compromise between the parties in respect of offences ‘compoundable’ within the statutory framework, the extra-ordinary power enjoined upon a High Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C., 1973 or vested in this Court under Article 142 of the Constitution, can be invoked beyond the metes and bounds of Section 320 Cr.P.C., 1973 Nonetheless, we reiterate that such powers of wide amplitude ought to be exercised carefully in the context of quashing criminal proceedings, bearing in mind: (i) Nature and effect of the offence on the conscious of the society; (ii) Seriousness of the injury, if any; (iii) Voluntary nature of compromise between the accused and the victim; & (iv) Conduct of the accused persons, prior to and after the occurrence of the purported offence and/or other relevant considerations.”

In view of the report of Judicial Magistrate First Class, Jalandhar, the conspectus of aforesaid judicial precedents, no useful purpose would be served by continuing the proceedings. Therefore, this petition is allowed and FIR No.78 dated 29.04.2018 under Sections 323, 324 and 427 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, registered at Police Station Bhargo Camp District Police Commissionerate Jalandhar and all the subsequent proceedings emanating therefrom are hereby quashed, qua the petitioners only.
