7. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Saju P.R. v. State of Kerala, Criminal Appeal No.1740/2019 inter-alia held that:

“Considering the peculiar facts of the present case, the affidavit filed by the complainant and other materials on record, in our opinion, the relief claimed by the appellant to quash the criminal proceedings pending against him deserves to be acceded to for doing complete justice to the parties concerned.”

8. The Kerala High Court in Vishnu v. State of Kerala &Anr. and other connected matters, 2022 SCC Online Ker 4361 inter-alia held that:

“16. From the precedents and law on the subject enunciated above, it can be concluded that though the High Court should not normally interfere with the investigation/criminal proceedings involving sexual offences against women and children only on the ground of settlement, it is not completely foreclosed in exercising its extraordinary power under section 482 of Cr. P.C or Article 226 of the Constitution of India to quash such proceedings in ‘extraordinary circumstances’ to do complete justice to the parties. However, it is always a difficult task for the Court to identify the so-called ‘extraordinary circumstance’. The interest of the victim and the societal interest often clash, making the job of Courts more complex. The issue must be considered from different perspectives, the pros and cons must be weighed, and a rational view must be taken. A holistic approach is called for in identifying the cases fit for compromise.”

9. It is settled law that the inherent powers under section 482 of the Code are required to be exercised to secure the ends of justice or to prevent abuse of the process of any court. Further, the High Court can quash non-compoundable offences after considering the nature of the offence, the gravity of the case, and the amicable settlement between the concerned parties.

10. Taking into account the totality of facts and circumstances of the case and doing complete justice to the future of Respondent No. 2, this court considers that the parties have entered into an amicable settlement out of their own free will, without any fear, force, or coercion and they should be given an opportunity to lead their lives peacefully. No purpose will be served in continuing with the trial.

11. In view of the above, FIR No. 451/2015 registered at PS Malviya Nagar under Section 341/354D/509 IPC and all the other proceedings emanating therefrom are quashed.
