The Court: Learned counsel for the petitioner files written instructions which are kept on record. It transpires that although the petitioner sought not to proceed with the matter and the writ petition was dismissed for non-prosecution, inadvertently it was missed out that there were pending applications in connection with the writ which were not dealt with. In view of submission of the petitioner not to proceed with the writ petition, consequentially, GA/1/2024 and GA/2/2024 are also dismissed for non-prosecution without any order as to costs.
