CRIMINAL APPLICATION (BA) NO. 719 OF 2024

Narsing s/o Oshana Ramgiri Vs State of Maharashtra

Office Notes, Office Memoranda of Coram, appearances, Court's Orders or directions and Registrar's order

Court's or Judge's Order

Mr. T.S. Deshpande, counsel for the applicant.

Mrs. M.A.Barbde, APP for non-applicant/State.

CORAM : URMILA JOSHI-PHALKE, J.
DATED : 29/08/2024.

1. By this application, the applicant is seeking bail under Section 439 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, in connection with the Crime No. 49/2021 registered with Police Station Shivaji Nagar, District Buldhana for the offence punishable under Section 20(b)(ii) of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (hereinafter referred as 'the NDPS Act').

2. As per the allegation that on 04/02/2021 when the informant was present in the Police Station, received the secrete information that one vehicle bearing No. AP-27/Q-6133 is proceeding from bypass road towards Khamgaon Nandura, some persons are transporting the contraband article Ganja. After receipt of the said information, he immediately rushed towards spot along with raiding party members. After following the due process, he conducted the search. During the search, four nylon gunny bags were found containing weighed of green colour leaves, flowering buds, stems, and the seeds accordingly. The same was seized in presence of the panchas, after weighing the same, it was 85Kg and 650 gm. He seized the said contraband articles and brought to the Police Station. Before sealing the sample was taken from one bag, and after completion of the process, he has filed the report. On the basis of said report, police have registered the crime against the present applicant.

3. Learned counsel Mr. Deshpande for the applicant submitted that contraband article seized is not the Ganja in view of the definition of Section 2-B of the NDPS Act. He submitted that, the term Ganja has defined in Section 2(iii) (b) of the NDPS Act. The term Ganja is defined in Section 2(iii) of the NDPS Act means flowering or fruiting tops of cannabis plant (excluding sees and leaves when not accompanied by tops), by whatsoever, name they may be known or designated. He further submitted that a plain reading of Section would reveal seeds and leaves would not be covered under the definition of Ganja unless they are accompanied by flowering or fruiting tops of the cannabis plants.

4. It is further submitted that, the investigating officer has not collected the samples from each of the bag, and only collected the sample from one of the bag, and the said samples are also produced before the magistrate. There is no compliance of the mandatory provisions and therefore, the present applicant be released on bail.

5. He further submitted that, the other two co-accused are already released on bail by this Court. Thus, on the ground of parity also, the applicant shall be released on bail.

6. Per contra, learned APP for the State strongly opposed the said application on the ground that the contraband article found is of commercial quantity and therefore, rigor under section 37 of the NDPS Act attracts. In view of that, application deserves to be rejected.

7. After hearing learned counsels for both the side, perused the investigation papers. From recitals of the FIR, it reveals that contraband articles seized by the investigating officer as a wet green leaves, stems, seeds and the flowers. The term “Ganja” defines and clarifies that “Ganja” is flowering on fruiting tops of cannabis plant excluding seeds and leaves when not accompanied by tops.

8. In the case in hand, as seen from the FIR and the investigating papers, quantity 85 Kg and 650 Grams. Ganja was seized from the vehicles, the samples are drawn immediately from one Gunny Bag in absence of inventory. The inventory report only shows the quantity which was seized. From the inventory, it nowhere reveals that either the samples are obtained before the Magistrate or the samples taken are produced before the Magistrate. The description of the contraband articles is also not mentioned in the inventory report.

9. The above state of affairs would make it clear that there is nothing on record to prima facie show that before conducting the weight of the seized plant of “Ganja”, the investigating officer has separated flowering or fruiting tops of cannabis plant in order to ascertain the exact quantity of “Ganja”. In fact, it is not mentioned in the inventory report that the seeds substance includes flowering or fruiting tops of cannabis plant. This fact also makes it further clear from the Panchanama also. The seizure panchanama also nowhere shows that flowering or fruiting tops of cannabis plant were in any other manner separated in order to ascertain correct quantity of Ganja. The Chemical Analyzer Report also shows that greenish, brownish colour leaves, flowering tops, seeds and stocks are forwarded for the analysis.

10. Thus, from perusal of the material on record shows that what was seized was stems, leaves and plant, and there was no quantification of flowering tops and without separating flowering or fruiting tops, the contraband article was weighed. As the seized material was not weighed after separating flowering tops, it is difficult to ascertain whether it can be said to be a commercial quantity.

11. In view of Section 37 of the NDPS Act, power to release an accused on bail subject to limitation contained in Section 439 of the Cr.P.C. coupled with limitation contemplated in view of Section 37 itself, i.e. (i) there are reasonable grounds for releasing that accused is not guilty of such an offence and (ii) he is not likely to commit such offence while on bail. The expression reasonable grounds means something more than prima-facie ground it contemplates substantial probable cause for believing that accused is not guilty of offence and record satisfaction about the existence of such grounds. But, the court has to consider the matter as if it is not pronouncing the judgment of acquittal and recording a finding of not guilty.

12. Bearing the aforesaid proposition in mind, it is necessary to look into nature of accusation and evidence collected by the prosecution. The report of analysis refers to the sample as greenish brownish colour leaves, flowering tops, seeds, and stalks. Necessarily, the entire mixture is weighed and found to be 85 Kg 650 grams. On the basis of the same, the applicant is charged for possession and delivering commercial quantity of "Ganja". The discrepancies in the manner of seizure and analysis prima facie satisfy that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the applicant is not guilty for the offence. The panchanama prima-facie reveals that the seized material contained green leaves and flowering buds without separating the same is forwarded to the Chemical Analyzer. The seizure panchanama also shows that the samples are not obtained in the presence of the Magistrate.

13. In the case of Bothilal vs. The Intelligence Officer, Narcotics Control Bureau, [2023(6) SCALE 377] wherein it is held that sub-section (3) of Section 52-A of the NDPS Act requires that the Magistrate shall as soon as may be allow the application. This implies that no sooner the seizure is effected and the contraband forwarded to the officer-in-charge of the police station or the officer empowered, the officer concerned is in law duty bound to approach the Magistrate for the purposes of inventory, and draw representative samples in his presence. Thus, the act of drawing samples from all packets, at the time of seizure, is not in conformity with what is held in the case of Union of India vs. Mohanlal and anr, [(2016) 3 SCC 379]

14. In the light of the above well settled legal principals, if the facts of the present case are taken into consideration, it reveals that the flowering and fruiting tops are not separated and the contraband articles are weighed. Therefore, doubt is created whether seized articles are of commercial quantity or not.

15. Moreover, a plain and literal interpretation of the conditions under Section 37 (i.e., that Court should be satisfied that the accused is not guilty and would not commit any offence) would effectively exclude grant of bail altogether, resulting in punitive detention and unsanctioned preventive detention as well. Therefore, the only manner in which such special conditions as enacted under Section 37 can be considered within constitutional parameters is where the court is reasonably satisfied on a prima facie look at the material on record (whenever the bail application is made) that the accused is not guilty. Any other interpretation, would result in complete denial of the bail to a person accused of offences such as those enacted under the provisions of the NDPS Act.

16. Thus, perusal of the investigation papers and the material complied with the charge-sheet, prima facie, shows that it is difficult to say that the alleged prohibited substance is “Ganja” since it does not come within the definition of “Ganja” under the NDPS Act. In view of the same, the applicant has made out the case to grant him bail, in view of that, application deserves to be allowed. Accordingly, I proceed to pass the following order;

- b.
