ORDER

The petitioner herein who is residing in the house of her father-in-law is before this Court seeking protection from the police from not to evict her from the said residence.

2. Relying upon the letter given by the petitioner to the police, the learned counsel appearing for the petitioner states that the police is compelling the petitioner herein to vacate the house.

3. On perusal of the complaint, this Court finds that the petitioner has some matrimonial dispute with her husband and presently residing in the house of her father-in-law. Whether that house is a matrimonial home or not has been not clearly stated. Further, if at all the petitioner need any protection of residence, there is a Special Act, which provides such remedy and the petitioner has to approach appropriate Court under the Domestic Violence Act, instead by abusing the provision of law, the present petition is filed under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., without resorting to the remedy available under the law.

CrI.O.P.No.18697 of 2024

4. Hence this Criminal Original Petition is dismissed.
