The petitioners who apprehend arrest for the alleged offences punishable under Sections 296(b), 115(2), 118(1), 351(2) BNS Act, 2023 in Crime No. 452 of 2024 on the file of the respondent police seeks anticipatory bail.

2. The case of the prosecution is that the petitioners along with other accused persons had assaulted the de-facto complainant under the influence of alcohol during a festival. Due to the impact, the de-facto complainant got injured. Hence the complaint.

3. The learned counsel appearing for the petitioners submitted that the petitioners as well as the de-facto complainant had assaulted with each other. He further submitted that the petitioners have been falsely implicated in this case and no previous case is pending against them. He further submitted that it is a case-in-counter case and the injured person has been discharged from the hospital. However, the petitioners are ready and willing to abide any stringent conditions may be imposed by this Court. Therefore, he prayed for grant of anticipatory bail to the petitioners.

4. The learned Government Advocate (Criminal Side) appearing for the respondent submitted that the petitioners along with other accused persons had assaulted the de-facto complainant under the influence of alcohol during a festival. He further submitted that it is a case-in-counter case and the injured has been discharged from the hospital and there is no previous case pending against them. However, he vehemently opposed for grant of anticipatory bail to them.

5. Considering the above submissions made by the learned Counsel on either side, considering the nature of offences, it is a case and case-in-counter, the injured person has been discharged from the hospital, there is no previous case pending against the petitioners, and considering all other aspects, this Court is inclined to grant anticipatory bail to the petitioners with certain conditions.
