The petitioners apprehend arrest for the alleged offences under Section 379, 420, 506(1) of IPC in Crime No.206 of 2024, on the file of the respondent police seeks anticipatory bail.

2. The case of the prosecution is that the defacto complainant bought a Toyota car from the petitioners agreeing to pay the remaining EMIs. He also paid Rs.1,10,000/- for registration. However, on 15.12.2023, the first petitioner along with a co-accused allegedly stolen the car of the defacto complainant. When defacto complainant confronted them, he was threatened with murder if he asked for the car return. Later the defacto complainant discovered that the car had been sold to another person. Hence, the complaint.

3. The learned counsel appearing for the petitioners submits that the petitioners are an innocent person and they have not committed any such offence as alleged by the prosecution. The petitioners have been falsely implicated in this case. However, on instructions, the learned counsel further submits that the petitioners are ready and willing to abide by any conditions that may be imposed by this Court and he prays to grant anticipatory bail to the petitioners.

4. The learned Government Advocate (Criminal Side) appearing for the respondent police submitted that the defacto complainant bought a Toyota car from the petitioners agreeing to pay the remaining EMIs. He also paid Rs.1,10,000 for registration. However, on 15.12.2023, the first petitioner along with a co-accused allegedly stolen the car of the defacto complainant. When defacto complainant confronted them, he was threatened with murder if he asked for the car return. Later the defacto complainant discovered that the car had been sold to another person and no previous case is pending against the petitioners and further, considering the gravity of offence, he opposed for grant of anticipatory bail to the petitioners.

5. Considering the representations made by both sides and considering the nature of offences charged against the petitioners and there is a dispute pending between the parties in respect of car dealing and also considering that there is no previous case is pending against the petitioner and there is a delay in lodging complaint and the alleged date of occurrence took place in the year 2021 and FIR has been registered in the
