Heard both sides.

2. The impugned refusal slip is put to challenge in this writ petition. The only reason set out in the refusal check slip is that the civil suit is pending among the family members. I have consistently held that only if any restraint order has been obtained from the jurisdictional civil Court, the registering authority will be justified in refusing registration and not otherwise. In this case, the private respondents have not obtained any restraint order. Therefore, the impugned refusal check slip is quashed. The petitioner is permitted to represent the document. If in the meanwhile, the private respondents obtained any interim injunction from the jurisdictional civil Court, the registering authority has to abide by the same. If there is no restraint order is received, the document shall be entertained and it shall be registered subject to fulfilment of the other usual formalities. This writ petition stands allowed accordingly. No costs. Consequently, connected miscellaneous petition is closed.
