3.The learned counsel for the petitioners would submit that the petitioners are innocent and they have been falsely implicated in this case. He would further submit that based on the confession of A5, other accused have been added as accused in the FIR and no previous case is pending against the petitioners. Hence, he prays for anticipatory bail.

4.The learned Additional Public Prosecutor would submit that the petitioners herein / A1 & A2 are used to procure the rice meant for Public Distribution System through ration shop from the family card holders for low price and sell the same to A3 & A4. In turn, A3 & A4 smuggle the same to Kerala for very high price. The petitioners herein are habitual offenders. Now, the investigation in this case is not yet completed and A5 was arrested and still in custody. Hence, he vehemently, opposed to grant anticipatory bail to the petitioner.

5.Considering all the sets of submissions made on either side and also considering the fact that the case relates to the rice meant for public distribution system for the poor and the quantity being 21.5 tons, the entire case has to be investigated thoroughly and this a case, which would require custodial interrogation of all the accused and therefore, I am not inclined to release the petitioners on
