No.10 of 2024, seeks anticipatory bail.

2.The case of the prosecution is that the petitioner and the defacto complainant had come in contact through a marriage broker. While no decision had been taken about the marriage, both of them used to meet frequently and the petitioner had forcibly physical sexual relations with the defacto complainant under false promise that he would marry her. However, the defacto complainant came to know that the petitioner was engaged to another woman. Hence, the complaint.

3. Heard the learned counsel on either side and perused the material records of the case.

4. Considering the overall facts and circumstances of the case and the detailed statement, which is given by the de facto complainant, which reveals that the relationship happened over a period of time and thereafter did not fructify in a marriage and considering the fact that the petitioner has subsequently been married to another woman, I am inclined to enlarge the petitioner on anticipatory bail with certain conditions.
