the name of the Institute and Roll Number, verification of petitioner's records was not possible, which supports the allegations in the FIR that the petitioner had submitted a fake ITI Certificate and bogus application for procuring a job in DHBVNL. Hence, the custodial interrogation of the petitioner would be required to unearth the truth.

6. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the relevant material available on record.

7. There are grave allegations against the petitioner(s) of playing a fraud upon the State. During investigation, when verification of the original education certificates purported to have been issued by Government Vocational Institute, Bulandshahar, UP in the name of the petitioner(s) was carried out, it was uncovered that the said certificate had neither been issued by the said Institute nor had the petitioner(s) ever been enrolled as a student with the Institute, in any Electrical course for the year 2007-09.

8. During the hearing of this petition, petitioner Kuldeep Singh through his counsel had asserted before the Coordinate Bench that all his educational certificates were genuine as Assistant Director, State Council of Vocational Training, Aliganj, Lucknow vide letter dated 31.07.2023 had categorically stated that the roll number and name of candidate mentioned in the marksheet, including that of petitioner had duly matched. However, the said statement stands belied from the observations in the letter pointed out by the learned State counsel wherein it finds mentioned that due to the discrepancy between Institute and Roll Number of the petitioner, his record could not be verified. Even qua petitioner Rohtash, verification of his records etc. could not take place for the same reasons. It is thus, evident that the petitioner(s) had misled this Court by concealing material information as well as cleverly twisting the facts on record.

9. In the aforementioned facts and circumstances, this Court is not inclined to extend the extra-ordinary concession of anticipatory bail to the petitioner(s). Accordingly, the present petition(s) stands dismissed.
