1. After arguing for some time and faced with the unavoidable conclusion especially keeping in view the explanations which have been given in the review application which are patently against the record, counsel for the review-applicant/respondent is not in a position to press the present review application since if the matter is to be decided on merits, it is a case of exemplary costs and thus, has chosen not to press the same.
2. Accordingly, we grant the indulgence, as such and dismiss the present review application as not pressed alongwith other applications for condonation of 50 days delay in filing and refiling.
