ANIL KSHETARPAL, J(Oral)

1. These three connected appeals have come up for final disposal after a period of 34 years. In all these three appeals, the respondents (one each in these three appeals) filed three separate suits for decree of permanent injunction restraining the appellant (electric supply company) from changing their feeder from urban to rural on the ground that they will not get 24 hours power supply. The respondents (one each in these three appeals) are farmers and they have an electric connection for running a tubewell to irrigate their respective fields. It was the case of the appellant that feeders for rural and urban supply are different and therefore, the appellant is entitled to change their feeder.

- 2. Both the Courts somehow decreed all the three suits.
- 3. The learned counsel representing the appellant has submitted that the electric connection of the respondents (one each in these three appeals) has already been changed from urban to rural, however, he apprehends that the respondents may not pray for the implementation of the judgments passed by the Courts below, though, they have not taken any objection during all this while.
- 4. The respondents are not represented.
- 5. Keeping in view the aforesaid facts, all the three appeals are disposed of as infructuous with liberty to the appellant to file an application for revival, if, the necessity arises.
- 6. All the pending miscellaneous applications, if any, are also disposed of.
