CORAM: HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE ANIL KSHETARPAL

1. The learned counsel representing the appellant admits that the property in dispute belongs to the Gram Panchayat. He submits that the plaintiff was granted permission to reside in the premises in dispute. However, he has failed to produce any allotment letter or resolution passed by the Gram Panchayat to this effect. The Gram Panchayat is a creation of Statute and is a body corporate. It has to act in accordance with the provisions of the Punjab Panchayati Raj Act, 1994.
2. Once the plaintiff-appellant does not dispute that the property belongs to the Gram Panchyat, he is not entitled to any injunction unless he shows his entitlement.
3. Keeping in view the aforesaid facts and discussion, no ground to interfere is made out.
4. Dismissed.

5. All the pending miscellaneous applications, if any, are also disposed of.
