CRM-M No.18981 of 2024
Date of decision : 16.7.2024

Sohan Lal @ Sonu.....Petitioner*Versus*State of Haryana*.....Respondent*CORAM: HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANDEEP MOUDGIL

Present: Mr. Amit Malik, Advocate, for the petitioner

SANDEEP MOUDGIL, J (ORAL)

This is a petition under Section 439 Cr.P.C. seeking regular bail to the petitioner in FIR No.97 dated 10.4.2021, under Sections 22 (C) and 29 of the NDPS Act, registered at Police Station Cheeka, District Kaithal.

2. Learned counsel for the petitioner would contend that the petitioner has been falsely implicated in the present case. Co-accused namely, Paras had given the concession of anticipatory bail by this Court vide orders dated 17.6.2021 and 5.10.2021 passed in CRM-M No.23360 of 2021 (Annexures P-13 and P-14). and co-accused Shubham had granted the concession of regular bail by the Additional Sessions Judge, Kaithal, vide order dated 27.7.2021 (Annexure P-15). The alleged recovery of contraband effected from the petitioner is less than the commercial quantity and there is no other case against him.

3. Notice of motion.

4. On the asking of Court, Mr. B.S. Virk, Senior DAG, Haryana, accepts notice on behalf of the respondent-State, who has produced the custody certificate, which is taken on record. According to the custody certificate, the petitioner is behind the bars for the last 3 years 3 months and 5 days. However, he could not controvert the concession of bail granted to the co-accused and the fact that there is no other case pending against the petitioner.

5. Be that as it may, having given considerable thought including the fact that the petitioner has already completed incarceration of 3 years 3 months and 5 days, after presentation of challan on 6.10.2021, charges were framed on 22.11.2021, and only two witnesses have been examined out of 19 prosecution witnesses so far which is sufficient to convince the Court that trial will certainly take long time and no useful purpose would be served by keeping the petitioner behind the bars.

6. Even further, right to speedy trial is a part of reasonable, fair and just procedure guaranteed under Article 21. This constitutional right cannot be denied to the accused as is the mandate of the Apex court in “Hussainara Khatoon and ors (IV) v. Home Secretary, State of Bihar, Patna”, (1980) 1 SCC 98; wherein it was held as under:

“10. Directions given by this Court in Hussainara Khatoon (supra) to this effect were left to be implemented by the High Courts Hussainara Khatoon and ors. (VII) etc. v. Home Secretary, Bihar and ors. etc. -(1995) 5 SCC 326 - para 2 are as follows :

"2. Since this Court has already laid down the guidelines by orders passed from time to time in this writ petition and in subsequent orders passed in different cases since then, we do not consider it necessary to restate the guidelines periodically because the enforcement of the guidelines by the subordinate courts functioning in different States should now be the responsibility of the different High Courts to which they are subordinate. General orders for release of undertrials without reference to specific fact-situations in different cases may prove to be hazardous. While there can be no doubt that undertrial prisoners should not languish in jails on account of refusal to enlarge them on bail for want of their capacity to furnish bail with monetary obligations, these are matters which have to be dealt with on case-to-case basis keeping in mind the guidelines laid down by this Court in the orders passed in this writ petition and in subsequent cases from time to time. Sympathy for the undertrials who are in jail for long terms on account of the pendency of cases has to be balanced having regard to the impact of crime, more particularly, serious crime, on society and these considerations have to be weighed having regard to the fact-situations in pending cases. While there can be no doubt that trials of those accused of crimes should be disposed of as early as possible, general orders in regard to judge strength of subordinate judiciary in each State must be attended to, and its functioning overseen, by the High Court of the State concerned. We share the sympathetic concern of the learned counsel for the petitioners that undertrials should not languish in jails for long spells merely on account of their inability to meet monetary obligations. We are, however, of the view that such monitoring can be done more effectively by the High Courts since it would be easy for that Court to collect and collate the statistical information in that behalf, apply the broad guidelines already issued and deal with the situation as it emerges from the status reports presented to it. The role of the High Court is to ensure that the guidelines issued by this Court are implemented in letter and spirit. We think it would suffice if we request the Chief Justices of the High Courts to undertake a review of such cases in their States and give appropriate directions where needed to ensure proper and effective implementation of the guidelines. Instead of repeating the general directions already issued, it would be sufficient to remind the High Courts to ensure expeditious disposal of cases...." (emphasis added)

7. Moreover Deprivation of personal liberty without ensuring speedy trial is not consistent with Article 21. While deprivation of personal liberty for some period may not be avoidable, period of deprivation pending trial/appeal cannot be unduly long. The Apex Court in “Abdul Rehman Antulay and others v. R.S. Nayak and another”, 1992(2) RCR (Criminal) 634, observed that Right to Speedy Trial flowing from Article 21 encompasses all the stages, namely the stage of investigation, inquiry, trial, appeal, revision and retrial. And court also observed that the Right to Speedy Trial from the point of view of the accused are:

- I. The period of remand and pre-conviction detention should be as short as possible. In other words, the accused should not be subjected to unnecessary or unduly long incarceration prior to his conviction;
- II. The worry, anxiety, expense and disturbance to his vocation and peace, resulting from an unduly prolonged investigation, inquiry or trial should be minimal; and
- III. Undue delay may well result in impairment of the ability of the accused to defend himself, whether on account of death, disappearance or non-availability of witnesses or otherwise.

8. In view of the discussions made hereinabove, the petitioner is directed to be released on regular bail on his furnishing bail and surety bonds to the satisfaction of the Chief Judicial Magistrate/Duty Magistrate, concerned.

9. The present petition is, hereby, allowed.

10. Pending miscellaneous application(s), if any, stand disposed of accordingly.
