DEEPAK SIBAL, J. (Oral)

1. The petitioner is undergoing life imprisonment for having committed murder. He has also been convicted under the Arms Act, 1959. While undergoing his sentence, the petitioner applied for parole. The State denied it through the order under challenge through the instant petition.
2. Learned counsel for the petitioner has been heard.
3. It is not disputed that in the year 2021, while on parole, the petitioner is alleged to have committed the offence of Section 307 IPC and that he has also been convicted twice under Section 174-A IPC after being declared a proclaimed offender.
4. For the afore reasons, we are not inclined to interfere with the order of the State declining parole to the petitioner.
