for the respondents.

KARAMJIT SINGH, J. (Oral)

Counsel for the respondents apprised the Court that the petitioner challenged the impugned order whereby he was directed to be sent to civil imprisonment on account of non-payment of arrears of maintenance to the respondents; that on 12.9.2022, this Court passed interim order whereby operation of the impugned order was stayed.

2. Counsel for the respondents further submits that the said interim order was passed by this Court on the ground that the petitioner will make payment of certain amount out of total arrears of maintenance but till date, no such payment has been made and even alleged demand draft was also taken back by the counsel for the petitioner. Counsel for the respondents made prayer that interim order be vacated.

3. Today, there is no representation on behalf of the petitioner. Even on the last date of hearing, no one appeared on behalf of the petitioner.

Further, it appears that till date, the petitioner failed to make payment of
