.....Petitioner

Versus

State of Haryana and others

.....Respondents

CORAM: HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE NAMIT KUMAR

Present : Mr. S.S. Surjewala, Advocate for the petitioner.

Mr. Saurabh Mohunta, D.A.G., Haryana.

NAMIT KUMAR, J. (ORAL)

1. The petitioner has invoked the jurisdiction of this Court under Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution of India, seeking a writ of certiorari, quashing the impugned order dated 19.09.2023 (Annexure P-16), whereby the claim of the petitioner for grant of interest on the delayed payment of arrears has been rejected and further seeking a writ of mandamus, directing the respondents to grant interest @ 18% per annum on the arrears paid to the petitioner for the period from 29.06.2000 to 30.08.2019, on account of increments and pay fixation after the grant of retrospective promotion to the petitioner.

2. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that apart from the other grounds which have been taken in the present writ petition, one of the ground to challenge the order dated 19.09.2023 (Annexure P-16), whereby the claim of the petitioner for grant of interest on the delayed payment of arrears has been rejected, is that the same is cryptic and non-speaking order as no reasons have been assigned while rejecting the claim of the petitioner. He further submits that the impugned order is nonest in the eyes of law and is liable to be set aside and the matter may be remanded back to the respondent-department for reconsideration.

3. Notice of motion.

4. Mr. Saurabh Mohunta, D.A.G., Haryana, accepts notice on behalf of the respondents and has fairly conceded that the impugned order dated 19.09.2023 (Annexure P-16) is non-speaking and ambiguous and has no objection to the prayer made by learned counsel for the petitioner and submits that the respondent-department shall reconsider the representation of the petitioner in accordance with law.

5. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the relevant documents.

6. The impugned order dated 19.09.2023 (Annexure P-16), passed by the respondent-department reads as under:-

“After careful consideration, Government has decided to file the matter”.

7. Perusal of the impugned order reproduced above would show that no reasons have been assigned while rejecting the claim of the petitioner.

8. The respondent/departments were under legal obligation to assign valid and cogent reasons while passing the impugned order dated 19.09.2023 (Annexure P-16) so that this Court, while exercising its power of judicial review, may be in a position to know as to what were the reasons weighing in the mind of the authority, while passing of the impugned order. It is so said because the aim of the rules of natural justice is to secure justice or to put it negatively to prevent miscarriage of justice. Since the horizon of natural justice has been constantly expanding in the recent past, hardly any visible distinction is left in the functioning of the administrative and quasi-judicial bodies, so far as the necessity of recording the reasons is concerned. That is why reasons are called the soul of a judgment.

9. The above-said view taken by this Court also finds support from the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Ram Phal v. State of Haryana : 2009(1) SCC (L&S) 645. The relevant observations made by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in para 6 of the judgment in Ram Phal's case (supra), which can be gainfully followed in the present case, read as under:-

“6. The duty to give reasons for coming to a decision is of decisive importance which cannot be lawfully disregarded. The giving of the satisfactory reasons is required by the ordinary man's sense of justice and also a healthy discipline for all those who exercise power over others. This Court in Raj Kishore Jha v. State of Bihar and others : (2003) 11 SCC 519 has stated:

19....Reason is the heartbeat of every conclusion. Without the same, it becomes lifeless.”

10. Again, while dealing with the question of demarcation between the administrative orders and quasi-judicial orders and the requirement of adherence to natural justice as well as recording reasons, the Hon'ble Supreme Court laid down the broad guidelines in this regard, in the case of Kranti Associates Private Limited and another Vs. Masood Ahmed Khan and others : (2010) 9 SCC 496. The relevant observations made in para 51 of the judgment, which aptly apply in the present case, read as under:-

“51. Summarizing the above discussion, this Court holds :

(a) In India the judicial trend has always been to record reasons, even in administrative decisions, if such decisions affect anyone prejudicially.

(b) A quasi-judicial authority must record reasons in support of its conclusions.

(c) Insistence on recording of reasons is meant to serve the wider principle of justice that justice must not only be done it must also appear to be done as well.

(d) Recording of reasons also operates as a valid restraint on any possible arbitrary exercise of judicial and quasi-judicial or even administrative power.

(e) Reasons reassure that discretion has been exercised by the decision-maker on relevant grounds and by disregarding extraneous considerations.

(f) Reasons have virtually become as indispensable a component of a decision-making process as observing principles of natural justice by judicial, quasi-judicial and even by administrative bodies.

(g) Reasons facilitate the process of judicial review by superior courts.

(h) The ongoing judicial trend in all countries committed to rule of law and constitutional governance is in favour of reasoned decisions based on relevant facts. This is virtually the lifeblood of judicial decision-making justifying the principle that reason is the soul of justice.

(i) Judicial or even quasi-judicial opinions these days can be as different as the judges and authorities who deliver them. All these decisions serve one common purpose which is to demonstrate by reason that the relevant factors have been objectively considered. This is important for sustaining the litigants' faith in the justice delivery system.

(j) Insistence on reason is a requirement for both judicial accountability and transparency.

(k) If a Judge or a quasi-judicial authority is not candid enough about his/her decision-making process then it is impossible to know whether the person deciding is faithful to the doctrine of precedent or to principles of incrementalism.

(l) Reasons in support of decisions must be cogent, clear and succinct. A pretence of reasons or 'rubber-stamp reasons' is not to be equated with a valid decision making process.

(m) It cannot be doubted that transparency is the sine qua non of restraint on abuse of judicial powers. Transparency in decision making not only makes the judges and decision makers less prone to errors but also makes them subject to broader scrutiny. (See David Shapiro in Defence of Judicial Candor).

(n) Since the requirement to record reasons emanates from the broad doctrine of fairness in decision-making, the said requirement is now virtually a component of human rights and was considered part of Strasbourg Jurisprudence. See (1994) 19 EHHR 553, at 562 para 29 and Anya v. University of Oxford : 2001 EWCA Civ 405, wherein the Court referred to Article 6 of European Convention of Human Rights which requires, "adequate and intelligent reasons must be given for judicial decisions".

(o) In all common law jurisdictions judgments play a vital role in setting up precedents for the future. Therefore, for development of law, requirement of giving reasons for the decision is of the essence and is virtually a part of "Due Process".

11. Same view was taken in judgment of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Chairman, Disciplinary Authority, Rani Lakshmi Bai Kshetriya Gramin Bank Vs. Jagdish Sharan Varshney and others : 2009(4) SCC 240. The relevant portion of said judgment is reproduced as under :-

“7. In our opinion, an order of affirmation need not contain as elaborate reasons as an order of reversal but that does not mean that the order of affirmation need not contain any reasons whatsoever. In fact, the said decision in Prabhu Dayal Grover case has itself stated that the appellate order should disclose application of mind. Whether there was an application of mind or not can only be disclosed by some reasons, at least in brief, mentioned in the order of the appellate authority. Hence, we cannot accept the proposition that an order of affirmation need not contain any reasons at all. That order must contain some reasons, at least in brief, so that one can know whether the appellate authority has applied its mind while affirming the order of the disciplinary authority.

*The view we are taking was also taken by this Court in Divl. Forest Officer Vs. Madhusudhan Rao : JT 2008 (2) SC 253 (vide para 19) and in M.P. Industries Ltd. Vs. Union of India : AIR 1966 Supreme Court 671, Siemens Engg. & Mfg. Co. of India Ltd. Vs. Union of India : AIR 1976 Supreme Court 1785 (vide para 6), etc.

8. In the present case, since the appellate authority's order does not contain any reasons, it does not show any application of mind.

9. The purpose of disclosure of reasons, as held by a Constitution Bench of this Court in S.N. Mukherjee Vs. Union of India : (1990) 4 SCC 594, is that people must have confidence in the judicial or quasi-judicial authorities.

10. Unless reasons are disclosed, how can a person know whether the authority has applied its mind or not? Also, giving of reasons minimises chances of arbitrariness. Hence, it is an essential requirement of the rule of law that some reasons, at least in brief, must be disclosed in a judicial or quasi-judicial order, even if it is an order of affirmation.

No doubt, in S.N. Mukherjee case (supra), it has been observed that : (vide para 36)

“36. ... The appellate or revisional authority, if it affirms such an order, need not give separate reasons if the appellate or revisional authority agrees with the reasons contained in the order under challenge.”

11. The above observation, in our opinion, really means that the order of affirmance need not contain an elaborate reasoning as contained in the order of the original authority, but it cannot be understood to mean that even brief reasons need not be given in an order of affirmance. To take a contrary view would mean that appellate authorities can simply dismiss appeals by one line orders stating that they agree with the view of the lower authority.

12. For the same reason, the decision of this Court in State of Madras Vs. A.R. Srinivasan : AIR 1996 Supreme Court 1827 (vide para 15) has also to be understood as explained by us above.

13. Hence, we agree with the High Court that reasons should have been contained in the appellate authority's order.”

12. Similar views have been observed in Ram Chander Vs. Union of India and others : 1986(3) SCC 103, Sengara Singh and others Vs. State of Punjab and others : 1983(4) SCC 225, State of U.P Vs. Raj Pal Singh : 2002(1) SCT 205 as well as judgments of this Court in case Gulab Singh Vs. Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak and others : 2005(1) PLR 440, State of Punjab Vs. Pargat Singh through LRs : 2004(3) RSJ 604, Nafe Singh Vs. Haryana Land Reclamation and Development Corporation Ltd. and others : 2016(1) SCT 212, Pritam Singh Vs. Haryana State Electricity Board : 1995(2) SCT 754 and R.S. Bhatti vs State of Haryana : 2001(2) SCT 1156.

13. Reverting back to the facts of the case in hand and respectfully following the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and this Court, it is unhesitatingly held that since the impugned order is non-speaking, it cannot be sustained. The respondent/department have failed to discharge their legal obligation and acted in violation of the above-said guidelines laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court as fairly conceded by learned counsel appearing for the respondents, therefore, impugned order cannot be sustained.

14. In view of the facts as mentioned above and the law position as discussed, the present petition is partly allowed. Impugned order dated 19.09.2023 (Annexure P-16), passed by the respondent/department is set-aside and the case is remanded back to the respondent/department for fresh consideration and decision on merits, in view of the observations made hereinabove and pass speaking order, within a period of three months from the date of receipt of certified copy of this order.
