...Respondents

CORAM: HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE HARPREET SINGH BRAR

Present: Mr. Anshumaan Dalal, Advocate for the petitioner.

Mr. V. Ramaswaroop, Advocate for the respondent.

HARPREET SINGH BRAR, J. (ORAL)

1. The present petition has been preferred against the impugned order dated 18.11.2022 passed by the learned Family Court, Ambala under Section 125 of the Cr.P.C. vide which the maintenance of Rs.30,000/- per month was awarded to the respondents (Rs.15,000/- per month to respondent No.1 and Rs.7,500/- per month each to respondents No.2 & 3).
2. The marriage between the petitioner and respondent No.1 was solemnised on 25.06.2007 in accordance with Hindu rites and rituals. Out of this wedlock, two children were born. However, matrimonial dispute ensued between the couple and the respondents filed a petition under Section 125 Cr.P.C. seeking maintenance. The petitioner filed a reply and contested the claim made by the respondents. The learned Family Court vide order dated 18.11.2022 granted maintenance allowance of Rs.30,000/- per month in favour of the respondents (Rs.15,000/- per month to respondent No.1 and Rs.7,500/- per month each to respondents No.2 & 3). Aggrieved by the same, the petitioner has approached this Court by filing the present petition.

CRR(F)-8-2023 (O&M)*-2-

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner inter alia contends that the matrimonial dispute between the petitioner and respondent No.1 was settled by way of oral settlement and the petitioner has already transferred the house measuring 200 square yards situated in Ambala City by way of transfer deed dated 29.06.2020 to respondent No.1/wife, which she has further sold vide Annexure P-6 dated 03.04.2024. The house was transferred and both the parties agreed to file a petition under Section 13-B of the Hindu Marriage Act for seeking dissolution of marriage by way of mutual consent and during the settlement, the petitioner has already withdrawn his petition under Section 13 of the Hindu Marriage Act against respondent No.1. Further, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the learned Family Court has wrongly relied upon the ownership of a bus bearing No. CH01-TA-7357 and submits that although the petitioner is the owner of the bus but it is not pliable and it is parked in the Ambala Motor Market and as such, the petitioner has no source of income to pay the hefty amount of maintenance as awarded by the learned Family Court, Ambala and other buses mentioned in para 18 of the impugned judgment are owned by other persons and the petitioner has no concern with the said buses. Even the bus which is lying parked in Motor Market is jointly owned by the petitioner and his mother and the petitioner is only owner of SUV Innova bearing No. CH01-AV-1906.

4. Learned counsel for the respondent per contra submits that the petitioner has not disclosed all his assets before the learned Court below and filed an incorrect affidavit. The petitioner has obtained the information under the Right to Information Act and placed on record all the relevant documents with regard to ownership of the vehicles of the petitioner mentioned in para 18 of the judgment. He further submits that mother of the petitioner is residing with the respondents and she is completely bed ridden for the last 06 years and respondent No.1 is looking after her.

5. The object and purpose behind granting maintenance is to ensure that the dependent spouse is not reduced to destitution or vagrancy on account of failure of marriage. At the same time, a just and careful balance must be struck to ensure that this provision does not degenerate into a weapon to punish the other spouse. The Courts are required to conduct the maintenance proceedings while being alive to the legislative intent behind the provision under Section 125 Cr.P.C in its true spirit, which is to provide speedy assistance and social justice to women, children and infirm parents. The provisions of Section 125 Cr.P.C. were enacted as a measure to further social justice and protect dependent women, children and parents, which also fall within the constitutional sweep of Article 15(3) reinforced by Article 39 of the Constitution of India.

6. A three-Judge Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Vimala (K.) v. Veeraswamy (K.) (1991) 2 SCC 375, speaking through Justice Fatima Beevi, opined that as follows:

“3. Section 125 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is meant to achieve a social purpose. The object is to prevent vagrancy and destitution. It provides a speedy remedy for the supply of food, clothing, and shelter to the deserted wife.”

A two-Judge Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Kirtikant D. Vadodaria v. State of Gujarat (1996) 4 SCC 479, speaking through Justice Faizan Uddin, opined as follows:

“15. ... While dealing with the ambit and scope of the provision contained in Section 125 of the Code, it has to be borne in mind that the dominant and primary object is to give social justice to the woman, child and infirm parents, etc. and to prevent destitution and vagrancy by compelling those who can support those who are unable to support themselves but have a moral claim for support. The provisions in Section 125 provide a speedy remedy to those women, children and destitute parents who are in distress. The provisions in Section 125 are intended to achieve this special purpose. The dominant purpose behind the benevolent provisions contained in Section 125 clearly is that the wife, child and parents should not be left in a helpless state of distress, destitution and starvation.”

7. Another objective the legislature has sought to achieve by this provision is to provide maintenance pendente lite to the applicant spouse during proceedings emerging out of matrimonial disputes so that the she/he can maintain herself/himself, have sufficient funds to pursue the litigation, and not suffer at the instance of the affluent spouse.

8. There is a general tendency on the part of the wife to amplify her needs and the husband to conceal his actual income, making it difficult to determine the earning capacity of the rival claimants with exactitude. The rival claimants must scrupulously bring on record their actual respective earning capacities in order for the Court to arrive at quantum of maintenance which is just and fair in terms of principle of equistatus. The quantum of maintenance must be justifiable and realistic to provide succour to the dependent spouse and also to avoid occurrence of the two extremes of the maintenance being either paltry or extravagant, ensuring that neither of the two is reduced to a life of penury. The adequacy of the maintenance allowance has to be determined by the yardstick of the dependent spouse being able to lead a life of reasonable comfort.

9. While dealing with the issue of maintenance in extenso, a two Judge bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rajnesh v. Neha and another (2021) 2 SCC 324, laid down the criteria for determining quantum of maintenance and issued the following directions:

VI Final Directions

130. In view of the foregoing discussion as contained in Part B -1 to V of this judgment, we deem it appropriate to pass the following directions in exercise of our powers under Article 142 of the Constitution of India:

(a) Issue of overlapping jurisdiction

131. To overcome the issue of overlapping jurisdiction, and avoid conflicting orders being passed in different proceedings, it has become necessary to issue directions in this regard, so that there is uniformity in the practice followed by the Family Courts/District Courts/Magistrate Courts throughout the country. We direct that:

- (i) where successive claims for maintenance are made by a party under different statutes, the Court would consider an adjustment or setoff, of the amount awarded in the previous proceeding/s, while determining whether any further amount is to be awarded in the subsequent proceeding;*
- (ii) it is made mandatory for the applicant to disclose the previous proceeding and the orders passed therein, in the subsequent proceeding;*
- (iii) if the order passed in the previous proceeding/s requires any modification or variation, it would be required to be done in the same proceeding*

(b) Payment of Interim Maintenance

132. The Affidavit of Disclosure of Assets and Liabilities annexed as Enclosures I, II and III of this judgment, as may be applicable, shall be filed by both parties in all maintenance proceedings, including pending proceedings before the concerned Family Court / District Court / Magistrates Court, as the case may be, throughout the country.

(c) Criteria for determining the quantum of maintenance

133. For determining the quantum of maintenance payable to an applicant, the Court shall take into account the criteria enumerated in Part B III of the judgment.

134. The aforesaid factors are however not exhaustive, and the concerned Court may exercise its discretion to consider any other factor/s which may be necessary or of relevance in the facts and circumstances of a case.

(d) Date from which maintenance is to be awarded

135. We make it clear that maintenance in all cases will be awarded from the date of filing the application for maintenance, as held in Part B-IV above.

(e) Enforcement/Execution of orders of maintenance

136. For enforcement/execution of orders of maintenance, it is directed that an order or decree of maintenance may be enforced under Section 28A of the Hindu Marriage Act, 1956; Section 20(6) of the D.V. Act; and Section 128 of Cr.P.C may be applicable. The order of maintenance may be enforced as a money decree of a civil court as per the provisions of the CPC more particularly Sections 51, 55, 58, 60 r.w. Order XXI."

10. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and after perusing the record, it transpires that the learned Court below has relied upon the evidence adduced by the parties and has rightly considered the fact that the petitioner is found to be owner of a bus as well as as per his own submission, he owns SUV Innova and as per the information received by the Central Public Information Officer, State Transport Authority, U.T. Chandigarh under RTI, the petitioner is found to be owner of one bus bearing No. CH01-TA-7357 and another vehicle No. CH03-R-8383 as well as SUV No. CH01-AS-1906, therefore, the learned trial Court has come to the conclusion that the petitioner is running a transport business and has duly considered the material placed before it for determining the quantum of maintenance. A careful and just balance has been drawn, keeping in view the spiralling inflation rates and high cost of living corresponding to the reasonable needs of the respondents. Learned counsel for the petitioner has not been able to indicate any perversity in the impugned order which warrants interference by this Court. Accordingly, the present petition is dismissed being bereft of any merit.

11. Pending miscellaneous application(s), if any, shall also stand disposed of.
