%

1. At the very outset, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that she may be permitted to withdraw the present petition with liberty to file it afresh. She submits that various vital facts could not be incorporated while drafting the petition and even the prayer is not happily worded.
2. Without making any observation with respect to the contentions made in the present petition, the present petition is, hereby, disposed of as withdrawn.
3. Liberty, as prayed, is granted.
