State.

2. Petitioner is apprehending his arrest in a case registered for the offences punishable under sections 498A,

323 of the Indian Penal Code.

3. The case was also called yesterday but no one appeared on behalf of the opposite party no. 2 even today, no

Center for resolution of dispute between the parties but the same

5. The prosecution case is based upon a complaint filed by opposite party no.2 in which she has made an allegation of demand of dowry and torture.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the allegation made in the complaint is not correct and as a matter of fact, the petitioner has always been ready to keep the complainant along with him with due dignity and honour but it is the complainant, who does not want to stay in the matrimonial house of the petitioner along with their parents and the petitioner is not in a position to keep her along with him at his place of study and this fact has been stated in paragraph 8 and 13 of the petition.

7. The learned APP for the State opposes the prayer for anticipatory bail.

8. Taking into consideration that the petitioner has always been ready to keep the complainant with due dignity and honour in the matrimonial house, I am inclined to grant privilege of anticipatory bail to the petitioner.
