The Court: Despite service, none appears on behalf of the respondent. As an order has already been passed by referring the dispute to arbitration, this Court is of the view that all interim prayers henceforth should be made before the learned arbitrator. An order of injunction which was passed on April 16, 2025 will continue for a period of two months or until further orders by the learned arbitrator, whichever is earlier.

This order shall be communicated to the respondent.

This application is accordingly disposed of.
