There is no recovery or seizure of incriminating article at the instance of the applicant which would reasonably connect the applicant with the offence. The last seen theory cannot be applied against the applicant. Continued detention of the applicant is not necessary, and therefore, the applicant may be released on bail.

There is possibility of tampering with the evidence. Hence, prayed that the applicant may not be granted bail.

6. Considering the fact that the case is based on circumstantial evidence. Except the allegations that the deceased was found in the company of the accused persons, there is no other incriminating material against the applicant. Nevertheless, the identification parade of the accused persons is also not in conformity with rules of regulating the identification parade as provided in the Criminal Manual. The material on record, at this stage, cannot be regarded as sufficient to connect the applicant with the alleged offence.
