

4. I have heard the learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.P.P for the Respondent-State.

5. The learned counsel for the applicant submits that nobody has sustained any serious injury though the alleged assault was by sword and iron rod. It is submitted that possibility of exaggeration can not be ruled out. It is submitted that the applicant is in jail for six months and there are no other criminal antecedents against him.

6. On the other hand, the learned A.P.P for the Respondent-State submits that the applicant is involved in a serious crime of attempt to commit murder. It is submitted that at the time of incident the applicant was armed with sword. It is submitted that considering the nature of offence, the applicant may not be released on bail.

7. I have perused the injury certificate of the complainant. The nature of injury is simple. The applicant is in jail for six months. There are no other criminal antecedents against the present applicant. Considering the overall facts and circumstances, I am inclined to release the applicant on bail.
