CORAM : ARIF S. DOCTOR, J.

DATED : 4th MARCH 2025

P.C. :

1 The Court Receiver was appointed by an order dated 28th April 2022, pursuant to which, the Court Receiver had proceeded to take possession of certain impugned products, machinery and items from the defendants. The said products are presently sealed and seized in the various premises. The Court Receiver has filed the captioned report, i.e., Court Receiver Report No.91 of 2025, in which the court receiver has sought the following directions; that one of the premises at which the said seized material is lying is Unit No.497/1 at Lohiya Compound as more particularly mentioned in the site report submitted by the Additional Special

Receiver who had helped the Court Receiver in implementing the order dated 28th April 2022. Submissions that the premises in question namely, Unit No.497/1 at Lohiya compound is the premises taken on licence and it is thus by way the present report the relevant directions are sought to move those seized goods lying at the said premises to hand over the said seized goods to the plaintiff on superdari. There is today no opposition to this court receiver report as in my view there cannot be. All that is being done is for moving the location of the said seized products, machinery and items and, therefore no party can have any objection to this. In view thereof, the Court Receiver Report is allowed in terms of prayer clauses (a) and (b).

2 The necessary cost, charges and expenses shall be borne by the plaintiff at this stage.

3 Since the goods are lying in Nashik, the aforesaid exercise can be undertaken by the plaintiff for which the plaintiff is granted a time of three weeks from today.

4 The Court Receiver Report is accordingly disposed of.
