JUDGMENT

Devan Ramachandran, J.

Even though the petitioner alleges that the respondent is acting in violation of the directions of this Court-by not allowing his children to talk to him on the phone number mentioned in the judgment-it is responded to by the learned counsel for the respondent, asserting that the petitioner had abducted the children on 08.02.2025 and the police had to be involved to get them back. He, however, unequivocally submitted that his client had not, at any point of time, refused permission to the petitioner to talk to the children on the phone number mentioned in the judgment; and undertook that the said arrangement will continue without fail.

2. Though we heard Sri.C.Rajendran, learned counsel for the petitioner controverting the afore, we do not think it is necessary for us to intervene through a contempt of court action at this stage.

We resultantly close this case; however, recording the above submissions of Sri.T.R.Krishnadas, learned counsel for the respondent.
