innocence on the part of the petitioner and false implication in the case, learned counsel for the petitioner seeks indulgence of this Court. He also submits that the petitioner is no way connected with the alleged offences and he is ready to abide by any stringent condition that may be imposed by this court.

3.The case of the prosecution as putforth by the learned Government Advocate (Criminal Side) appearing for the respondent police, opposing for grant of bail, is that the petitioner was having an illegal affair with the de facto complainant and he used to torture her demanding money to pay off his loans. Unable to bear his torture, the de facto complainant tried to ignore him and enraged over that, the petitioner often came home and tortured her by demanding money. On the date of occurrence, the petitioner had demanded Rs.5000/ from the de facto complainant and on her refusal, had tried to strangle her due to which she fainted and was taken to the hospital. He further submits that there are no previous cases against the petitioner.

4.Having heard the learned counsel for the petitioner and the learned Government Advocate (Criminal Side) for the respondent Police and perused the materials available on record and considering the period of incarceration undergone by the petitioner, this court is inclined to grant bail to the petitioner with certain conditions and accordingly, the petitioner is ordered to be released on
